Bespoke Commercial Furniture for Modern Manchester Hotels

Horizon were tasked with delivering a suite of furniture for hotel bedrooms and bathrooms in a modern design and to utilise the rooms space and provide storage for customers.

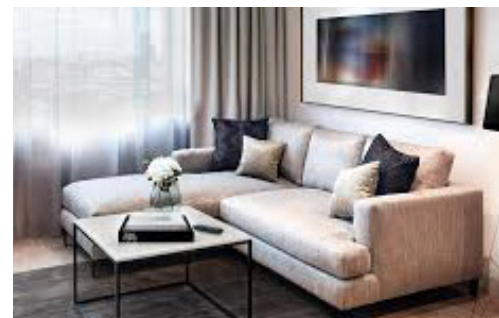

The client is a chain of hotels across the UK who had specific requirements for their new Manchester based hotel branch.

The project involved the manufacture of bespoke products to the provided specification and drawings of which had been designed by a specialist furniture designer. With such large quantities required and the client exploring various manufacturers for the job including overseas, price was a key factor to winning the project. However our quality, reliability, lead time and service were the deciding factors.

Horizon worked closely with the designers inviting them to come and visit our site multiple times during the manufacturing process to ensure they were happy with the progress at each step of the way. Horizon advised on areas to help reduce cost through changes in material, design and other areas to ensure efficiency in all areas. As well as this, assisting in the design of new products and providing solutions to issues that arose as the project progressed.

Horizon manufactured a total of 1,350 products in a quick turnaround time of 6 weeks and delivered everything on time and according to the tight schedules set.

The client, as a result, was extremely happy and pleased with the work delivered by Horizon.

Signage Solutions for New Bus & Rail Interchange

Working in partnership with Centro, the largest Passenger Transport Executive in the UK, the Horizon Group was tasked with manufacturing and installing a number of products for the new 1.9m redevelopment of the Cradley Heath bus interchange system. Sitting alongside the towns railway station, the new interchange required the quick turnaround of a number of signage solutions with Centro turning to the Horizon Group to meet the brief.

On Walls, On Windows & Up Above

The new interchange consists of six bus stands, four within the new main building and two on a newly constructed island stand. This meant that a selection of internal and external information display solutions were required. Having performed the initial site survey and working with Centro and their main contractor, Dawnus, the Horizon Group manufactured and installed:

- Wall & glass mounted informational poster cases
- Glass mounted directional and destination tactile cases
- Overhead directional signage
- A selection of generic safety and informational signage

With the new Interchange requiring the majority of the poster cases and tactile cases to be glass mounted, the Horizon Group were called upon to use their extensive experience for delivering long lasting solutions to ensure the cases fitted the aesthetics of the new building as well as being safe, secure and long lasting. Also, with the interchange sitting on a gentle downwards slope, fitting the overhead signage required a fixing method that could be adjusted on site once the specific fitting locations were agreed to ensure uniformity of height. Using a lightweight but durable material for the signage and an adjustable fixing kit, the Horizon Group was able to deliver consistency across all overhead signage whilst having the flexibility required due to varying floor to ceiling heights and available fixing locations.

The Results

Having used our market leading AP Poster Case Range as the basis for all wall and glass mounted signage, Centro has chosen a long lasting, cost effective case that is built to last the rigours of everyday use. The overhead signage is crisp, clean, easy to follow and fits perfectly with the modern stylings of the new station.

New External Dining Seating & Benching Range Installed at School

In another display of the versatility offered by the Horizon Group, we recently installed a range of new external dining seating and benching whilst working on a school FF&E project.

The initial brief for the school project was to supply and install a range of teaching aids, including pinboards, drywipes, noticeboards, poster cases and classroom furniture such as tables, chairs and whiteboards. However, whilst on site it was discovered that the client was looking to procure some quality, long lasting and cost effective external dining furniture. Having recently developed a range of external seating and benching we presented our products and the Horizon Group was commissioned to install the items in a number of locations throughout the school.

Made to Measure, Built to Last

As with many of the items we supply, these stylish but robust pieces of furniture are bespoke products but without the price tag associated with a made to measure item. Made from 100mm x 100mm x3mm aluminium box section framework the furniture utilised heavy duty, long lasting, Accoya wood table and bench tops (although a selection of other surfaces are also available).

The legs were securely fixed to the floor with hidden mounting plates but we also took in to account the fact that we were presented with a number of uneven floor surfaces. With this in mind our team ensured accurate measurements were taken during the site survey, and gradients taken in to account, before the furniture was made to measure at our manufacturing facilities where we allowed for a number of differences in the lengths of table legs etc. Finally, the aluminium frame was powder coated to ensure additional longevity and aesthetic value.

“Working with the sales team is a delight and their eye for detail ensures each and every order is processed flawlessly. Horizon is a great reminder why British manufacturing is amongst the best in the world.”
